

Alfred Lamont Williams affectionately known as (Lamont) by family and close friends was born on August 22, 1955 to the union of Alfred and Frances Williams in Mt Holly NJ. He was raised as a small child in the city of Burlington NJ, until he moved to Camden NJ, where he would start school and get his formal education in the Camden City school district. Lamont attended Camden High School where he excelled in his studies graduating with Honors. After that he went on to college at Glassboro State where he obtained his Bachelors, in Business Administration. After Glassboro he continued his studies at Montclair State University. Once he finished schooling, he went on to start his career as the Program Director of The Salvation Army, in Philadelphia Pennsylvania, where he dedicated many years to the organization.

After doing much soul searching and hard work Lamont decided to enter into the education field. He worked for a period of time in the Willingboro school district and then decided to open his own daycare in 2011. His first of three daycares would be in Willingboro NJ at The Reformed Church. Where he would meet his most faithful and longtime employee Ms. Darlene Gatling. With Lamont's hard work and Ms. Darlene right there to help him, he then would expand by opening his second daycare in Burlington NJ, and then finally his third, once again in Willingboro NJ. After a few ups and downs he would close 2 but he continued to thrive with his last daycare until his untimely illness and then death.

Lamont had a passion for education and learning and loved what he did at his center with the children. He was quiet and reserved, and known for being a homebody. He enjoyed watching the Eagles play during football season and calling his brother Lance to talk trash about their team. Basketball was another favorite, as well as, watching the Kentucky Derby. The holidays were sure to bring a laugh because Lamont was consistent with gifting his mother from his favorite store "Talbots" Even after his mother's retirement she was sure to get a sweater or blouse from his favorite store! After many conversations and numerous hints, he finally got it. No more clothes!

Lamont departed this life on May 1, 2023 after a short illness at Cooper Hospital in Camden NJ. He is preceded in death by his father Alfred J. Williams, Stepfather Merritt E. Spratley and his sister Charmaine D. Williams.

Left to cherish his memory is his companion of almost forty years Mizpah Bey of Philadelphia Pennsylvania. His mother Frances Williams and brother Lance Williams both of Willingboro NJ, one uncle Calvin Brooks of Orlando FL. A host of nieces, nephews, extended family and dear friends.
